Course To Discuss Minority Families

A Monterey Peninsula College special topics course on "The Psychological Effect on Minority Families," will be taught in Seaside when the fall semester gets underway on September 12.

James Stevenson Sr., chairman of the ethnic studies division, will teach the course at the Covell Elementary School, 491 Concha Costa, Seaside, on Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p.m.

Registration for the course can be accomplished on the first night of the class Wednesday, September 12.

Stevenson said the course would explore the psychological analyses of minority families in America as recorded by social and psychological observers. "The course will take a look at psychological traits developed in a society where perceptual differences in people continue to exist," said Stevenson. Emphasis will be on character traits, behavior and attitudes in family relationships among minority families.

Other courses being offered by the MPC Ethnic Studies Division include the Black American in American history, Afro American Literature, the American Indian experience, the Black American in the history of the United States, contemporary Black social movements, cross cultural study of institutional racism, psychology of Black Americans and Filipino American history institute.

The Filipino American History Course is also a new offering for the fall semester. It will be taught by Mr. Toney Pangniban.

Mr. Stevenson said that the Division is interested in offering other community courses dealing with minorities, but emphasized the need for community support in order for the courses to be instituted. He said that expanding the Division's offerings to meet the needs of more minorities will be the major goals of the Division for the next three years.

He also said that any group interested in a particular course that is not presently being offered, should contact him at the college. "If we can get at least fifteen students to enroll in a course, we can offer the course," he said.

For more information on these courses, call Stevenson at 375-9821, extension 388.

mentary or junior high school classroom will be faced with a choice about whether or not to try drugs. Some of them have already had to decide.

A group of Seaside High School students will be working in three Fort Ord schools this year with the hope that they can help their younger peers face the decision with solid information not only about drugs, but about themselves as people.

The high school is starting what is called a Teen Involvement Club, and its members will be trained as teen counselors to work in elementary and junior high school classrooms. The program is patterned after the "Dope Stop" attempt that was made in Fort Ord schools last year. It was not successful, according to Dr. James Solberg, Seaside High Principal, because the student counselors were not adequately trained and lacked supervision and direction.

The Teen Involvement program was developed in 1969 in Arizona, and then adopted by the Department of Defense for use on military bases. Basically, according to Mary Owens, the intergroup relations assistant who will sponsor the new campus club, the program is aimed at prevention, with the idea of helping children make wise decisions regarding drugs.

A teen counselor, she said, will be assigned to work all year in the same classroom, meeting once a week for two hours with the younger students. They will talk, tutor or work in any way the regular classroom teacher believes they will be most effective, she said. "We'll be there as a friend to the students and as a tool for the teacher to use," Mrs. Owens said.

Teen counselors, she emphasized, act more as listening posts and positive models than as "experts" on the drug scene.

"We give straight answers or no answers," Mrs. Owens stated.

Honesty is basic to the Teen Involvement approach, and teen counselors are told if

City Council Round-Up

Adoption of new animal control fees and a $9,384 advance to the joint powers agency for a continued bus subsidy was unanimously passed by the Seaside City Council last Thursday.

License, impoundment, rabies vaccination and other fees for animals in the city will be increased in order to conform to a new county fee schedule.

BUS SUBSIDY

"The Joint Powers Agency is going into the bus business," said Councilman Joe Cota, a member of the Public Transit committee.

After considering and rejecting several alternatives to continue bus service on the Peninsula after the Bay Rapid Transit company stops service on September 25, the committee decided that purchasing their own buses and related equipment, with the aid of a consultant, would be a feasible plan.

Member agencies will immediately contribute one-half of their pledged subsidies for 1973-74 fiscal year.

REALIGNING HIGHWAY 218

The City Council authorized the city staff to call for bids on realigning Highway 218 between Amador Avenue and the freeway on condition of approval pending the K-Mart appeal. The project will cost about $220,000.

YOUTH COMMISSION

A proposal for establishment of a youth commission was introduced to the council by a Seaside High School student, Elaine Mince.

Miss Mince, spokeswoman for the commission-forming committee, explained the purpose was to create a "clearinghouse" dealing with the problems the youth have in the city. She said different factions of youth and their related problems have been discussed and the commission would, in effect, help them help themselves.

ARMY RECRUITER

Would you believe that switchboard operators are but a part of the massive telephone industry in this country which employs over one million people and processes nearly half a million calls daily? Well it's true. While most telephone and switchboard operators are women, a growing number of men are finding their way into the field. It's not common any more to dial information and discover a man waiting to assist you.

Most operators work in the large cities where concentrations of industrial and business establishments are located. Opportunities for people with experience are expected to increase in the coming years as keep pace with population trends. Young men and women interested in careers in this field are advised by the Department of Labor to acquire a working knowledge of telecommunications procedures and some on-the-job experience. Many young people are turning to Today's Army for that kind of instruction and experience. Today's Army is currently training hundreds of young people for this kind of work at the U.S. Army Southeastern Signal School at Fort Gordon in Georgia.

At the Signal School, enlistees are given eight weeks of instructions in matters dealing with the installation, operation and maintenance of local and common battery switchboards. It is part of the Army's desire to provide young people with a thorough background in the whole telecommunication process.

After they complete their advance individual training, enlistees are sent to the particular installation they selected prior to their enlistment. This may include any of those in or out of the United States.

Enlistees in Today's Army are paid $307.20 a month to start while learning a skill. After they complete their training they receive a raise. In addition, they receive free room and board, complete medical and dental care and 30 paid vacation days annually.

Young men and women interested in switchboard opportunities in Today's Army are invited to contact us at 431 Webster St. Monterey, or call 372-4742 or 372-0553.

Wood said that approximately 11,500 new scholarships will be available for this year. Students may receive up to $2,200 per year. The exact amount is determined by the financial needs of the student and his family and the tuition charges at the school of his choice.

To be eligible for the scholarship, the applicant must be a resident of California, under 30 years of age (older if a veteran), and a U.S. citizen or a permanent resident. Students who will graduate from high school by June of 1973 are eligible, as well as any college student who has not complete 3 years of his college work. Hartnell and Monterey Peninsula College students can enter the competition and hold their award until they go on to a four year college.

Eligibility will be based on scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. The deadline for filing applications is November 20, 1973. Applications are available at Assemblyman Wood's Salinas office, 32 East Alisal Street, or by calling his office, 424-1703, or by calling in the Monterey Peninsula a toll free number, Enterprise 15756.

PG&E PROGRAM

High school seniors attending school or living in Pacific Gas and Electric Company's northern and central California service area can apply now for PG&E's James B. Black scholarship program. The deadline for filing applications is October 31.

Each year, 16 outstanding seniors are awarded $4,000 college scholarships, payable at $1,000 per year while attending an accredited college or university. The 32 runners-up in the program each will receive a $500 one time scholarship award.

Application forms and booklets giving full details are available through high school counseling services and local PG&E offices.

PG&E scholarships have been awarded to 127 students when next year's scholars are announced in the spring of 1974. The program was established in 1966 in memory of the late James B. Black, long-time chairman of the board and president of PG&E, to encourage high scholastic achievement.

Twelve of the 16 scholarships are awarded on a geographical basis. Two are awarded in area-wide competition to minority students recommended by high school principals and counselors for having made significant achievements despite economic, environmental or motivational disadvantages. The two remaining awards are set aside for sons and daughters of PG&E employees.

All candidates are interviewed by panels of impartial local judges and 48 finalists—three for each scholarship—they don't know the answer to a student's question to simply say, "I don't know, but I'll try to find out for you."

Although preventing drug use is the primary goal of the program, it is hoped the younger students can use the older students to help them understand other problems they will face, or are already facing, she said.

"Teen Involvement is not only designed to give elementary students sound drug information, but also to open the lines of communication for children to ask and talk about anything that is bothering them. And for questions that they may not ask their teacher or parents, concerning high school clubs, dating, sports, or whatever," she said.

President Don Butts made a plea for all members to attend the next Military Affairs meeting September 13 at 10:30 a.m. which will work details for the October 1-7 Military Week planned for the Peninsula.

The Chamber received a letter from Governor Ronald Reagan and was asked to have the staff review his November 1 tax proposition for endorsement.

The board decided to include both sides of the tax proposition in letters sent to Chamber members for further consideration.

counselors will be emphasized this year. Mrs. Owens and teen counselors Michael Zimmerman and Sandra Laycock traveled to Fort Bliss, Tex. during the summer to attend a six-day workshop on counseling.

They are working now to train 10 more club members, and the club will hold training sessions once a week throughout the year.

Initially, according to Dr. Solberg, teen counselors will work in Hayes and Marshall elementary schools and in Fitch Junior High. They will first meet with principals and teachers to explain what it is they hope to do. Their exact duties and their approaches may vary depending on which teacher they work with.

Fischer To Open Jazz Fest

Clare Fischer, playing a space-age, experimental, electric organ, will open the Sixteenth Annual Monterey Jazz Festival, Friday evening September 21.

The electric organ, a Yamaha EX 42, is fed through two 300 watt speakers, "as big as 9alk-in freezers," according to Fischer. "It can bark or whisper," he says.

The Monterey Jazz Festival is scheduled for September 21, 22 and 23. Its format will be five concerts—Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings and Saturday and Sunday afternoons—held in the 7,000-seat outdoor arena on the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

Eventually, Dr. Solberg said, it is hoped the students can also work in Seaside schools.

Fischer, who came to prominence as musical director for the Hi-Los in the late fifties, is considered by many as an innovator. His first recorded work of importance to jazz audiences was as conductor-arranger for Dizzy Gillespie's "A Portrait of Duke Ellington." His current work is considered highly contemporary and his performances on the EX 42 organ offer a wide range of sounds and effects.

Other artists previously announced for the Monterey Jazz Festival are: Mance Lipscombe, Jimmy Rogers, Dave Alexander, Bo Diddley, Eddie "Cleanhead" Vinson (who will all perform on the traditional Monterey blues show, Saturday afternoon, September 22).

Others are: Thad and Elvin Jones; Percy, Tootie and Jimmy Heath; Conte and Pete Candoli; Stanley and Tommu Turrentine; Jackie and Roy; and the Thad Jones-Mel Lewis Big Band. This group of artists will all perform on Sunday evening, September 23 in the final Monterey Jazz Festival concert of this year.

Let's Plan A County Jail System

Tailored to the Needs of Monterey County!

The public hearing on the county jail will be September 18, 2 p.m. in the Supervisor's Chambers, County Courthouse, Salinas.

The League of Women Voters urge strong public support for the authorization of an objective professional feasibility study to develop facts and figures on:

- * How many accused arrestees could qualify for release through the optimum use of valid release programs;

- * How many persons, not releasable could be held in medium security custody, such as that at B Wing in the Rehabilitation Center; and,

- * How many persons are serious risks requiring maximum security custody.

Although there is a genuine need to improve our county jail, maximum security construction costs from $15,000 to $20,000 per cell for facility construction only and should be restricted to serious risks only. Medium security such as B Wing at the Rehabilitation Center has been housing up to thirty unsentenced men since March with no serious custody problems. There are successful release programs used in other areas that have not been implemented in Monterey County and which we believe should be tried before investing a substantial amount of revenue sharing monies in a detention facility.

A citizens' Jail Advisory Committee which represents broad community participation in the jail system of Monterey County. The scope of the Committee's concern would include:

- * Effective use of monies pertinent to facilities and programs;

- * Effective use of diversionary programs, pre-trial and post-trial; and
- * Coordination of supportive services for positive assistance to offenders reintegrating into the community.

If you will support these requests on September 18 before the Board of Supervisors as an individual, a member of an organization or as an official representative of an organization or group, and will speak at the public hearing on September 18, lend moral support by attending the public hearing, or write the Board of Supervisors prior to the public hearing, please contact Capri Patterson (Coordinator) at 375-3782; Alice Ellis (League of Women Voters), 372-4130; or Raymond Shonholtz (Member, Bar Association Jail Committee), 373-0688.

As I See It

by Mel Vercoe

East do not become a military threat to their existence, any more so, for example, than our nuclear submarines and our missile bases in Europe, they are likely to remain quite neutral.

If the United States is unable to find some token justification for obtaining oil from Middle East oil fields, by fair means or foul, it would be one of the first times in history that a major world power allowed its existence to be threatened for the sake of politeness or legal technicalities, particularly when the offending nation had virtually zero military capabilities, as does Saudi Arabia, or for that matter, the whole lot of the Arab countries involved. So maybe we will not play the game according to King Faisal's rules.

Major warfare in the Middle East moved a step nearer with the decision to force the United States to alter its pro-Israel policies by withholding oil shipments from Saudi Arabia. With American oil reserves running out and with our fuel needs increasing at a rapid rate we have no choice but to play the game according to King Faisal's rules. He has his hand on the oil faucet handle, and he knows exactly what our fuel needs are and what our economic situation is. And worse yet, he does not look with kindness on our military aid to Israel.

There was a time when the Russians would have gone all out to help the Arab oil producers shut off the faucet, just to see the United States fall on its face for lack of fuel to keep it operating, but that day has passed. The Russians need our farm products and our oil-well drilling technology as much as we need their natural gas. As long as our activities in the Middle

The major factor is Israel. If we permit Faisal to force us to stop aid to Israel, it could be a great danger to Israel, and Israel is not big enough that it can afford to make mistakes or take chances. Thus, Israel could be forced, in self defense, to find a pretext to make preemptive strikes and simply take over the whole oil-producing region. King Faisal may think he holds all of the aces, but he is playing a very dangerous game against opponents who could at any instant change the rules without warning.

C of C Progress Report

by Verlaine Crawford

The Olde-Fashioned Picnic celebrating Military-Community Week was a topic of discussion at last week's Board of Directors Meeting at the Chamber. Ray Stepniak of MBS reported that this was one of the few times that all the Chambers of Commerce of the Monterey Peninsula have worked together. Both the military and civilians have responded well.

Military-Community Week will be October 1 through 7 and during the week a round-robin in Socko and Volleyball will be played between the Military and Civilian Teams. On Sunday, October 7, from 12 noon to 6 p.m., everyone will gather at the Monterey County Fairgrounds for an Olde-Fashioned Picnic. Playoffs will be held between the winning Socko and Volleyball Teams. Games and sports for children will include a pie-eating contest, sack races and a diaper derby. Trophies will be awarded the winners.

A free barbecue will be served and free entertainment with local celebrities on the outdoor stage. Beer will be sold for 25¢ a glass. It should be an exciting and entertaining day for everyone. Tickets will be available at local merchants soon.

A meeting of all members of the Military Affairs Committee and representatives from clubs and organizations will be Friday, Sept. 14, at 10:30 a.m. at the Seaside Chamber. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

The Government Affairs Committee is reorganizing with Carter Stanley as Chairman. The Committee has suggested that the City Government should publish a copy of their agendas for the Council Meeting and all other meetings which are open to the public so that the citizens of Seaside will better understand what the City is going to do and to inform the populace. The Board of Directors agreed to this proposal.

Carter Stanley reported that he will be contacting people to get involved in the Committee and to enlarge it. He feels that facts are needed and that the gathering of data should be the responsibility of the Government Affairs Committee. Information and advertising can be useful tools for the Chamber to get businessmen more actively involved in City Government. The next meeting is Wednesday, Sept. 19, at 8 a.m. at the Chamber Office.

Dick Penrose of Seaside Rexall Pharmacy has been made Chairman of a Task Force to study the concept of developing the Seaside Foundation to bring funds to Seaside for the purpose of Health, Education and Community Development. The meeting of the Task Force will be Friday, Sept. 21 at 8 a.m. at the Chamber Office.

Jim Wester, Chairman of the Business Development Committee, says that his Committee will be investigating a regional sales tax plan for the Peninsula. They will also be working on Parking for Feaside, the Bus situation and a Beautification of Businesses Project. If you wish to become involved in this Committee, please contact Jim Wester of the Chamber.

President Don Butts appointed Walter Norwick of Walter's Fashions to replace Fred Sandman on the Board of Directors. He also appointed a Nominating Committee to develop a list of members for the ballot to elect new Board Members. The Committee is: Chairman Jim Wester, Cecil Bindel, Dick Penrose, Carl Oliver and Bill Brown.

A thank you letter from Maj. General Moore was read by President Don Butts. The General had received an honorary membership for life from the Seaside Chamber of Commerce.

Letter To The Editor

Editor: Thanks so much for sending me "gratis" your most interesting newspaper and that beautiful tribute to Mr. Barragan was most outstanding. It is good to read nice things about people. Thanks again and some day I'll hobble into your office with the help of my dear beloved Grandfather's cane, which is over 100 years old and thank you personally.

Gratefully
Mrs. William J. Croake

Editor: Congress is going to increase your taxes--which will be justified as a means of "dampening inflation."

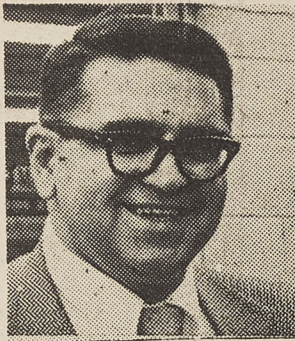

Rather than curtail the orgy of government spending, which has brought on inflation, political leaders expect to reduce the money supply by taking away your money.

Supposedly this tax increase will be to your benefit, but the unanswered question is, "Why will you be any better off losing your money to taxes than you would have been spending it on higher priced items?" At least when you spend the money, no matter how expensive the goods you buy, you still obtain something in return.

Complain now or be taxed later!

Sincerely,
C.C. Mosely,
Glendale, CA

Fire, "The Boon or Doom of Man", depending on its handling and uses, is ever present in our life. When used properly, fire will heat a home or school building cook food for a family and provide energy for manufacturing products or making electricity. If it is carelessly used to burn rubbish improperly, light smoking materials carelessly and abused through misunderstanding, fire becomes a demon which can kill or destroy man's life and possessions.

I am taking this opportunity to urge the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District to implement a fire safety education program - "Operation Fire Stop". As fire is with us every day of our lives, it

Dinner Is Tomorrow

A Spaghetti Dinner for the Ft. Ord Fogbusters Motorcycle Club membership drive will be held Thursday, September 13 at 8 p.m. at Monterey Lanes, 2161 Fremont Blvd. Lanes will be reserved for participants after the dinner.

The free dinner, sponsored by Monterey Lanes, is open to members of the military, retired or active, and their dependents wishing to join the club.

is felt that students should be taught vigilance in fire safety the year round. A study of and participation in experiences and experiments on fire safety in the home, school and community should be scheduled. An attempt should be made to correlate a program in science, language, arts, mathematics and social studies around a safety conscious theme in accordance with State Curriculum requirements.

Fire prevention education should begin with the age level most responsible for the cause of fires - 4 to 8 years old (pre-school through 3rd grade). Over 50% of all fires are caused by this age group! Children must be educated to Fire Prevention and taught not to experiment.

Trying to impress children with big equipment has, only, served to increase the rate of fires and false alarms because children are "turned on" and want to see the equipment and men "in action". Repeatedly false alarms occur at the Highland Elementary School. Not only is this expensive but a real emergency could occur simultaneously with the firemen enroute to a false alarm; the delays resulting could cause deaths in addition to financial losses.

Fire can be prevented. Fire must be prevented. Large losses cannot be allowed to continue growing with each passing year, for eventually this waste of life, national product and natural resources will affect the economic life of each one of us.

The place to start a comprehensive plan of action is in the school room.

With the start of school this fall, the University for Man will begin its fifth year of operation by offering a wide range of workshops and classes.

Registration for UFM programs is the week of September 15-21 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the UFM office in the Monterey Peninsula College center building. According to Sherry Pastor, UFM coordinator, an "open house registration" will be held Saturday, September 15 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the college. Many of the UFM leaders will be present to answer questions about the free university.

The university was started in 1969 by students, MPC faculty members and local residents to "stimulate thought, to provide free access to raw materials for the creative imagination, and to bring together people in the community naturally bound together by a common belief in the pre-eminence of the spirit of man."

Classes

A partial listing of the fall UFM class schedule includes six workshops taught by George McCormick which include awareness, advanced awareness, a divorce workshop, a couples workshop, a becoming free workshop and an anti-

Monterey Peninsula Seaside

— After Dark —
By Tom Nash

The feeling of revelry penetrates the entire area of Seaside and Monterey, caused by the approach of the Jazz Festival which will kick off at the Monterey Fairgrounds day after tomorrow, Friday, September 21. This activity will bring many visitors to our city and we are looking forward to their arrival.

To properly prepare myself for the occasion, I tripped down to the nearest bowling alley (nameless because they are not advertising with us), carefully selected me a ball and shot a perfect 49 game. Not being satisfied with this fantastic score, I followed with two perfect strikes and bowled another perfect 50 game. By then the owner or manager tipped over to me and once again informed me that there was someone waiting for me at my office, and that it was a dire emergency. He stated he had just received a phone call.

I have learned that among the celebrants coming down to the festival will be Eugene Morris, who, according to Bill Smallwood of the POST Newspaper Group, has been coming down every year and has never made it. This year he states that Gene will make it, and let me assure you that Feaside will never be the same.

Gene is a lover of distinction, and should be given honorable mention. One day I learned that Gene was attempting to commit suicide (by jumping off the bottom step) because he was being chased by so many young "foxes." And Gene will be here, and SEASIDE will never be the same. I notice that every time I go to Oakland he is inquisitive about the happenings in Seaside, and I have to give him a chronological resume as to everything. When I mentioned about all the lovely ladies in Seaside, Gene assured me that he would be here to see for himself. Little did I know at that time that he was coming for the Festival. I think that on this night, I will go to Oakland and spend the weekend. Speaking of Bill Smallwood—no you speak of him, for every time I think of the name I get mad. Bill writes the entertainment column for the POST Group, and he is impossible.

I was down to the Fireside Hof Brau and learned that B.B. King has a new album out on the ABC Label, entitled "To Know You Is To Love You" which features Stevie Wonder on the keyboard. This album is one of B.B.'s finest. If you have not picked up on it, then give a listen. His list of musicians includes: Drums: Earl Young; Bass, Ronnie Baker; Guitars, B.B. King, Norman Harris, Roland Chambers and Eli Tartarsky; Conga, Larry Washington; Vibes, Vince Montana; Keyboards, Dave Crawford, Charles Mann, Ron Kersey and Stevie Wonder; Horns, Andrew Love, Wayne Jackson & the Memphis Horns; Background Singers, Dave Crawford and Charles Mann. What a line-up. One of B.B.'s greatest attributes is that he will share the spotlight with any entertainer. He is unselfish. This is the most.

Speaking of musicians, have you picked up on the group at the Fireside? The work is that they are out of sight. They are there nightly from Friday through Sunday nights. The organist with the group is fantastic. I predict he will be going a long way.

Oh yes, I forgot to mention why I detest Smallwood so much. You see he has a wonderful way to save money. He just forgets who he borrowed it from.

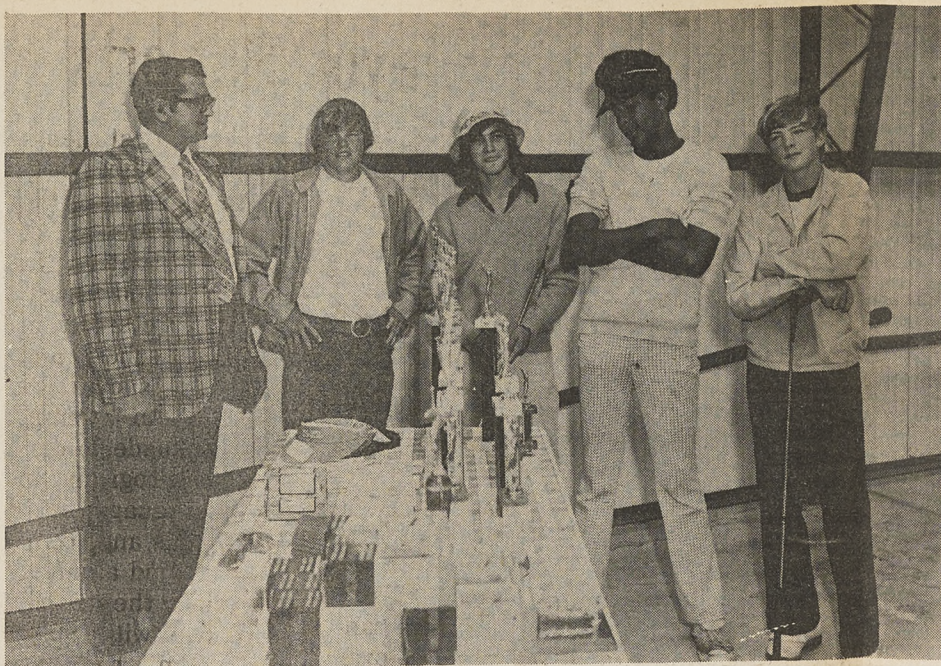

And speaking of others that fall in the same category, there is a gentleman in the Seaside area, Willie Adams to be exact. Willie, if you think of me like I think of you, you ought to be ashamed. In fact, if I should ever memorize your name, I'd throw my head away.

Labor Opposes Container Laws

Both the AFL-CIO and the United Steel Workers of America have voiced strong opposition to legislation which seeks to ban the use of non-returnable beverage containers. In a position statement issued early last month, the AFL-CIO Executive Council declared that the answer to the twin problems of solid waste disposal and depletion of valuable natural resources lies in transforming waste into usable products, not in proposals to ban disposable cans and bottles or to curtail use of certain materials. Earlier, USWA President I. W. Abel urged the defeat of restrictive container legislation because "directly affected are not only 45,000 members of our Union employed in the containers industry, but also thousands more in steel and aluminum who make the metal for beverage cans."

The AFL-CIO urged the Federal government to expand its effort in developing new techniques for disposing of solid wastes.

Recalls Career As Pitcher

"They make it easy for the pitcher," commented Charley Pride as the infielders made one sparkling play after another during the recent Detroit Tigers' 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles on NBC Television.

Price, famed singer of country and Western music, was the guest commentator in the NBC-TV announcers booth with Curt Gowdy and Tony Kubek. As a former pitcher, Charley was fully appreciative of what the defense could do on behalf of the man on the mound.

The singer played in the Negro leagues as a youngster. Recalling a brief tryout with the California Angels in 1961, he remarked, "My manager always pointed out that with a capable defense, it was important to get the ball over the plate. The defense will do the rest. If you walk the batter, the fielders can't help you."

"I didn't remain with the Angels very long," Pride explained. "The Angels were in their first year as an expansion team and they were more inclined to start with veterans, pitchers like Duke Maas and Truman Clevenger, and sluggers like Ted Kluszewski."

Charley had proper sympathy for the youthful Baltimore pitcher, Jesse Jefferson, when he was removed midway through the contest. "That's tough for a young pitcher trying to establish himself. But he'll get used to having the manager come out of the dugout. I learned from experience that after a while, you accept that as part of the game and look ahead to the next start."

"In my case, I often moved to the outfield when I wasn't pitching. I was a pretty fair hitter."

He Detoured His Way To The Top

At 26, Ben Vereen is Broadway's newest and brightest star. As the leading player in Pippin, he won this year's Tony Award for Best Actor in a Musical—far cry from a few years ago when he was just another unknown chorus boy.

Interviewed by Maurice Peterson in the September issue of Essence magazine, Vereen tells of his initial interest in the theatre and confides that he sang his first song at age four on a reverend's knee in a church in Brooklyn, New York.

"I loved being a child," says Vereen, "and I still love being a child. I did all the things that children do. Everyday I'd go with the other kids down to the shoeshine parlor and watch the two owners, who used to be in vaudeville, perform their routine."

"One Sunday when I was hanging out in the streets, a lady asked me why I wasn't in church. She went to my mother and the next thing I knew I was a member of her church."

"I sang my first solo song in front of that audience. She taught me how to stylize, told me what to do with my hands, how to move my body and eyes. She made it more than just singing a song; it became a show. It was she who made a performer out of me. Once that inspiration was planted in me, I just had to entertain."

Kicked out of school in seventh grade because his reading was only at the third grade level, Vereen was admitted to a special school. He recalls, "I soon learned that if you had something of your own—something other than basketball or football—the little girls in school would go crazy for you—so I faked tapdancing. It not only worked for the girls but the faculty as well!"

Some precautions to take for the common cold.

Shut out the cold.
Close your drapes at night. Let in the warm by keeping your drapes open during the day. This will help reduce your other heating needs.

Keep warm. Have your furnace checked before the cold sets in. Clean or replace your filters—dirty filters waste energy and increase your heating bill. Be sure wall and floor furnaces are free of lint and dirt.

Cover up. Proper insulation can help cut heating requirements up to 30%. Check attic floor insulation—4" is adequate.

Avoid chills. Weatherstrip around doors and windows. You'll keep the warm air in, and the cold air out.

Don't sit in drafty places. Close your fireplace damper when not in use. If you leave it open, heat escapes.

Prepare for winter before it hits your town. By doing so you'll save money on your winter PG&E bill, and help conserve energy. PG&E

Going South? You'll Enjoy Your Visit To Busch Gardens

Probably the best known--and certainly one of the most popular--men in supervisory posts at famed Busch Gardens-Los Angeles is Cal Owens.

Owens, who has been with the family entertainment center in San Fernando Valley since its inception in May, 1966, helps escort foreign dignitaries or working journalists through the lush green complex of scenic wonderlands and exciting "rides" and shows. He also aids the many motion picture units which shoot scenes at the Gardens, 16000 Roscoe Boulevard, Van Nuys.

"The part I've enjoyed most is working with the young personnel here," says Cal. He has worked with a staff as large as 30. Many of them, of course, are students or just out of school, meeting and aiding the guests at Busch Gardens.

Turn now to pert Alma Joy Bracy--call her "Joy"--and you find Busch Gardens as a showcase of fresh new talent. Show biz!

She is seen by the public in two of the famed shows in the 1,000-seat Eagle

Playhouse.

In the Festival of Magic, she's the typical "magicians' aide"--one of those always-beautiful, always shapely young ladies who assist a magician in his feats of legerdemain.

In the hilarious and unique Busch Gardens animal show (it features penguins, otters and sea lions).

Other times, she goes into the audience to escort some lucky child to the center-stage microphone to receive the "Key to Busch Gardens" from "Mayor Slim Shorty." His Honor happens to be a frisky otter. The key is good for goodies at a snack bar.

Another change of pace: Consider Charles B. Younger.

Charlie, now 34, came direct from Cincinnati to a job in Busch Gardens' zoo department.

Charlie admits it was "just a job" to begin with, but when he was put in charge of the Penguin and Otter House almost immediately, it opened up new vistas.

Charlie also got a taste of show biz when the Gardens' troupe of performing penguins, otters and sea lions was introduced in 1972.

"They still were pretty wild," Charlie recalls. "We all had to help quiet them down and get them used to performing before crowds." Zoo manager Cliff Prator is especially appreciative of the job Charlie did with "Louise"--a King Penguin who laid an egg in 1972 and almost hatched it. Only three or four such successful hatchings in captivity are reported annually by all the zoos in the world.

The amazing problem is that the penguin has to balance the egg on her webbed feet for an entire 54-day incubation period. (The egg can't be on the icy surfaces on which penguins live.)

"We almost had a West Coast 'first,'" Charlie says. The egg broke just a few days too soon.

The ban against registering MAICO motorcycles manufactured after January 1, 1973, as "off road vehicles" was recently lifted by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The freeze went into effect on June 21 at the request of the California Highway Patrol because the motorcycle's exhaust system was too noisy. Affected by the ban were model 125cc, 250cc, 450cc, and 501cc.

DMV Director Robert C. Cozens said the bike's West German manufacturers have solved the problem with a device that brings sound emissions to within legal limits.

MAICO motorcycles basically are "trail bikes" not equipped for on-road use and DMV will continue to refuse them registration that would permit their use of conventional thoroughfares.

Owners who desire to obtain off-highway registration now may do so at any DMV field office. A Statement of Facts from the dealer or owner must accompany registration applications for those motorcycles manufactured after January 1. This document must identify the cc model and stipulate that an Exdusor II device has been installed on the

If you start losing steering control during a sudden stop, get off the brake immediately. Then quickly hit the brake and release it in fast cadence several times.

Film Themes On Records

Growing In Popularity

Los Angeles -- As the only major classical record label with a Hollywood home office (at Hollywood and Vine), Angel is seriously into the film music scene.

Two new releases of music by Miklos Rozsa and Alfred Newman are now being added to their movie catalog.

Their merchandising advertising manager, Brad Engel-himself a movie soundtrack collector--points out the immense popularity enjoyed today by soundtracks and modern recordings of vintage themes:

"Beyond the famous scores by great established composers like Walton's Shakespearean films, Prokofiev's Alexander Nevsky and Ivan the Terrible and Shostakovich's many film scores (we have two albums from these on Melodiya/Angel), there is all the fine work being done by the Hollywood professionals.

"Rozsa and Newman represent a golden age of underscoring but there are the younger composers whose innovations have added much to the art.

"On Angel we recently released Richard Rodney Bennett's Lady Caroline Lamb and Alfred Ralston's Young Winston. And John Lanchbery's score for Peter Rabbit and Tales of Beatrix Potter was a delightful surprise hit."

One of Angel's best-selling soundtrack albums is Henry VIII and His Six Wives. While the feature film has not yet been released in America, the album benefits, Engel believes, from the exposure of composer-arranger David Munrow's work for the similarly titled BBC-TV series, The Six Wives of Henry VIII.
